ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A back light assembly for a liquid crystal display device includes at least one or more diffusion plate supporting members disposed between a reflection sheet and a diffusion plate, and having a complex structure including an elastic material in contact with the diffusion plate, the diffusion plate supporting member preventing the diffusion plate from dropping down.